FINE CONCERT BY MARINE BAND

Many Hear Big Musical Organization.

Time and Again the Musicians Were Applauded—The Program Varied—Ensemble Work Little Short of Marvelous—Cornet Solo Greatly Enjoyed—Lieut. Santelman An Able Director—Band In Richmond Tonight.

About twenty-five hundred people heard the United States Marine Band at the auditorium last evening and everybody left the building well satisfied. Time and again the musicians were applauded and several times they were forced to respond to encores. The concert lasted for about two hours and many would have been glad had it lasted longer.

The individual work of the bandsmen was of the highest order and the ensemble work was little short of marvelous. Every eye followed the baton of Lieut. Santelman with the utmost precision and the perfect manner in which they kept time showed conclusively that the band has received careful as well as competent instruction.

The program was a varied one and contained numbers that would satisfy people of every musical temperament. The Tannhauser Overture, the opening number, was truly an inspiration and at the conclusion the audience loudly applauded the musicians. The cornet solo by Mr. Arthur S. Whitcomb was also a most enjoyable number and called forth several encores. The old plantation melodies were also favorites with the audience. Several numbers called for extraordinary musical skill, but, these only served to show what an excellent musical organization the Marine band is.

The full program follows:

Overture. "Tannhauser"—Wagner.

Suite. "L'Arlesiene", Bizet. (a) Prelude. (B) Minuetto. (c) Adagietto. (d) Le Carillon.

Serenade. "Aubade Printaniers"—Lacombe.

Cornet Solo. "Le Reve D'Amour", Haydn-Millars—Mr. Arthur S. Whitcomb.

Excerpts from "Carmen"—Bizet.

Invitation to the Dance, Weber-Weingartner (Transcribed for Military Band by W. H. Santelmann.)

Hungarian Rhapsody "No. 14"—Liszt.

Songs of the Plantation—Chambers.

"The Star Spangled Banner."

The band leaves this morning for Richmond, Va., where it gives a concert tonight, after which it returns to Washington city. Greensboro citizens should feel especially proud that the organization consented to come here for a concert and the Chamber of Commerce and Auditorium Company is due the thanks of the citizens for the treat secured for them.

A large number of people from Winston, Charlotte, Raleigh and other nearby towns were here for the concert.

BIG COURT YESTERDAY.

Large Number of Cases on Docket in Municipal Court.

There were quite a number of cases on the docket when Judge Eure convened Municipal Court yesterday morning and some time was consumed in disposing of them.

Wiley Austin was convicted on the charge of retailing and was sentenced to six months on the roads, being given an option of paying a fine of $75 and costs. He paid the fine and costs. Date Pine, alias David Cowan, was charged with retailing, being let off on payment of costs.

Allen Leath was charged with an assault, the case being continued until September 20. Jesse Monroe was charged with assaulting Alice Williams, being fined $10 and costs.

Jim Jeffreys and J. H. Bynum were charged with hauling for the public without having secured a license. They were let off on payment of costs and the understanding that they were to secure a license at once.

Alice Williams was charged with an assault on Katie Jenkins, but after hearing the evidence the court decided that she was not guilty. In a case charging her with vagrancy, judgment was continued until Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, giving her a chance to leave the city.

REPLY TO PROPOSITION.

Public Service Company Speedily Responds To Letter of Chairman Sergeant.

Mr. E. C. Deal, manager of the North Carolina Public Service Company, yesterday replied to the proposition of the Water & Light Commission regarding the contract for lighting the city. The letter containing the proposition was received by Mr. Deal yesterday morning and he at once forwarded a reply.

As to the nature of his reply Mr. Deal would give out no information. He stated, however, that he was of the opinion that the contract would be made without delay. The committee and the Water & Light Commission will meet at once and if the terms are agreed upon the contract signed at once.

Mr. Deal was asked how long it would be before the new lights would be put in, in case the contract was made at once, and, as the present contract does not expire until May 27, 1910, whether the old contract would be annulled. He replied that the new lights and equipment would be ordered the day after the contract was signed and it would take about two months to get the material here. Then it would take fully a month to get the lines in operation as a good deal of the present wiring is considerably deteriorated and would have to be replaced. So if the contract is signed by the first of the month the new contract could not possibly begin before the first of the year, if the old contract is annulled.

GYMNASIUM AT ELON.

Student Y. M. C. A. Will Launch Campaign For Adequate Equipment.

Elon College, Sept. 15.—At a special meeting of the local Y. M. C. A. this afternoon, it was decided that it should undertake the work of raising a fund sufficient to build and equip a gymnasium, for the use of it's members at the college. The plans have not yet been drawn, but those who have the movement in charge say that the equipment will be modern, and fully adequate for the local needs.

Mr. E. T. Hines, president of the association, and Messrs. J. P. Farmer, J. S. Fleming and R. A. Campbell and Rev. A. T. Banks were chosen as a committee to devise plans by which the fund may be raised. They will begin a vigorous campaign at once. There is a large and enthusiastic student body at the college this year and it is confidently expected that the friends of the institution will support this worthy movement.

DEMOCRATIC HEADQUARTERS.

Chairman Sherrill to Have Offices in Rear of Court House—The Campaign.

Democratic County Chairman E. G. Sherrill has secured the offices in the rear of the county court house, now occupied by Messrs. Hudson & Swift. Messrs. Hudson & Swift will on Monday move into the offices to be vacated by Mr. S. Clay Williams, who will occupy the offices recently vacated by Stedman & Cooke.

Mr. Sherrill states that he will open headquarters the first of next week and from then on an active campaign will be waged. Already he is preparing for the campaign. The county candidates will begin their speechmaking about Oct. 1, the schedule to be arranged in a few days. On Oct. 8 a grand rally will be held at Stokesdale. Major Stedman and the county candidates will speak and the Democrats of the thriving villages are preparing to give the candidates a rousing reception.

HISTORY OF WORK OF WATER & LIGHT COMMISSION

Handsomely Illustrated Pamphlet To Be Gotten Out Soon.

The Water & Light Commission is preparing to get out a pamphlet giving a history of the Water & Light Commission since its creation, showing just what has been done by that body. The book will be handsomely gotten up and will be profusely illustrated, many views of the Reedy Fork plant, cistern, filtering station and pumping station, being shown, also the point where Horse Pen creek joins Reedy Fork.

The book will contain much information of value and will no doubt be read with interest by Greensboro citizens, but few of whom have any idea of the magnitude of the plant which furnishes the water supply for Greensboro.

Wigg—"The only way to get rid of old Boreleigh is to tell him to take a walk." Wagg—"And then he will probably take offense instead."

BIG CONCERN FOR GREENSBORO

American Automatic Valve Co. Chartered.

Authorized Capital Stock Is a Hundred and Twenty-five Thousand Dollars—For Manufacture of Air Brake Mechanism—Cases Against J. F. Taylor and C. L. Stevens, New Bern, May Not Be Tried.

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—A charter is granted for the American Automatic Valve Co., Greensboro, having $125,000 capital authorized for the manufacture and sale of an air brake mechanism. The principal incorporator is H. T. Ryder, of Greensboro.

Friday and Saturday of this week there will be an extensive farmers' institute in Robeson county, at Philadelphius, at which there will be instruction and demonstration both for the farmers and for farmers' wives. Director T. B. Parker, State Chemist, B. W. Kilgore and others are to participate. Mrs. C. L. Stevens will be in charge of the institute for women.

State Horticulturalist W. M. Hutt has also arranged for a big demonstration of gathering and packing apples for market at Mount Airy next week. There will also be several demonstrations in the Brushy Mountains before the party returns. Great interest is being manifested in improved methods of harvesting and marketing apples and the crop in the Mount Airy and Bushy Mountain region is said to be something immense and of very fine quality.

Hon. H. F. Seawell is here for a few days working up matters in connection with one and another of the more important cases scheduled to be tried in the eastern district courts during the fall terms which begin at Elizabeth City October 11. It is at the New Bern court which opens October 24 that the well known cases of the government against J. F. Taylor and C. L. Stevens are scheduled to be tried, these being the cases in which the defendants are accused of criminal participance through aiding and abetting in the defalcations of Cashier Carraway who is now serving a six-year term in the Federal prison at Atlanta. While District Attorney Seawell will not make any statement in regard to the matter it is understood that there is a movement looking to eliminating these cases from the court docket. However the arrangements for the trial are being made right along in the district attorney's office. The dates for other Eastern Carolina courts are Washington Oct. 17; Wilmington, November 7, and Raleigh, November 21.

Automobile Licenses.

A number of the auto owners in the city are in a predicament. They failed to secure a license before the ordinance requiring that all auto drivers shall be licensed went into effect. The auto commissioner, is out of the city and the prospective drivers cannot be examined as to their qualifications as handlers of the steering gear and brakes of motor vehicles. Some of them are suggesting to Chief Neelley that he shut his eyes when he sees them coming until Dr. Turner gets back and they can be examined. City Clerk Michaux is also being pumped for instructions and advise, but he is up a tree also. The auto owners will doubtless have to walk unless they stood the examination and secured a license.

Child Dies of Meningitis.

Glenn Hadley, the 22 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Cheek, died of meningitis yesterday afternoon at 3.10 o'clock at the family residence on Macon street near Broad avenue. The funeral will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon from Asheboro Street Baptist church and will be conducted by Rev. R. G. Kendrick. Interment will be made at Green Hill cemetery.

Will Inspect Fire Department.

This afternoon at 5 o'clock in front of the Steamer hall the Board of Aldermen and Fire Commission will inspect the fire department. This is the regular inspection and is for the purpose of keeping tab on the condition of the fire-fighting appartus.

GODWIN WINS IN THE SIXTH

Majority Over Clark About 4,000.

Legalized Primary Ordered by State Democratic Executive Committee Held Yesterday—Godwin Carried Every County Except One—Many Democrats Remained Away From Polls—The District Is Badly Split Up.

Wilmington, Sept. 15.—In the special primary held today the present encumbent, Hannibal L. Godwin, defeated Oscar L. Clark for the nomination as Democratic candidate for Congress from the Sixth district. Godwin's majority is about four thousand.

Godwin carried every county in the district except Clark's home county. Hundreds of Clark men had decided that Godwin would get the nomination and remained away from the polls, not caring to be bound by the action of the primary in the general election.

The district is badly split up and the Republicans are going to make a strenuous fight to carry it this fall, trusting that the disgruntled Clark men will come over and support their candidate.

The special primary is the one ordered by the Democratic State Executive Committee as a solution of the question raised by the action of the Sixth District Congressional convention in July. It will be remembered that one faction of the convention nominated Clark and the other faction nominated Godwin. Consequently both candidates claimed the nomination and finally the State Executive committee was called in to settle the dispute. A special committee was appointed and after looking thoroughly into the matter the special committee reported that no candidate had been regularly nominated. It was then decid to hold a general primary to settle the matter, each candidate having agreed in writing to abide by the result of the primary.

CHARLOTTE SECURES SOUTHERN SHOPS

Road Way Maintenance Shops To Be Located There.

Charlotte News: The News a month or more ago noted that the Southern Railway had gotten busy on North Graham street, extension, preparatory to locating shops there in connection with thte department of maintenance of way.

The work, in its most definite form the breaking of ground and clearing of tracks began yesterday.

The location for the new shops is on the extension of North Graham street, near the property of Mr. D. P. Hutchison.

A large force of hands began work yesterday breaking ground, grading and laying tracks necessary for the operation of the new shops, which are known officially, as the Road Way Maintenance Shops.

The shops will employe from 25 to 50 skilled mechanics. These will come with their families from all points on the Southern system, and will have homes in this city.

The work to be done at these shops will be the making of repairs of all road materials and equipment for the south eastern division of the Southern, comprising 3,500 miles of track.

Some of the work to be done will be the repairing of baggage trucks, frogs, rails and all classes of work preparatory to the maintenance of way.

The shops were formerly located at Columbia, S. C., but were burned, They are to be built in Charlotte.

Transferred to Virginia.

In United States Court yesterday Judge Boyd signed an order directing the United States Marshal of the district of South Carolina to turn over to the marshal of the western district of Virginia Walker Hayes and Cohen Moore, two parties wanted in Virginia on the charge of robbing the postoffice at Holston. The parties were arrested in South Carolina several days ago.

A man may be too proud to beg and still accept an office as the gift of the people.

AFTER COOK'S RECORDS.

John R. Bradley En Route To Etah to Secure Proofs of Discoverer's Claims.

Copenhagen, Sept. 15.—The Danish government steamer Hans Egede arrived here today with the news that John R. Bradley, the financial backer of Dr. Frederick A. Cook's North Polar expedition was on his way to Etah to secure the much talked of records and instruments which Cook has said that he left at that Eskimo settlement northeast of Greenland. The captain of the steamer thinks that Cook is with Bradley but gives no particular reason for this belief.

The Hans Egede, which is the vessel upon which the explorer traveled to civilization, fell in with a yacht at Godhaven, Greenland, and in the course of exchanges between the masters learned that Bradley was abroard the other craft.

The polar hunt promoter admitted his identity and explained that he was bound to Etah to recover whatever had been left there by Dr. Cook. He refused, however, to either deny or confirm the report that he was accompanied by the explorer.

The government vessel also brings the information that two missionaries who are working among the Eskimos who accompanied Cook on his expedition say that these Eskimos insist that the doctor reached the North Pole, as he claims, prior to its discovery by Commander Peary.

A DAY AT THE GREAT APPALACHIAN EXPOSITION

Today Will Be "Colored Business Men's Day"—Goethals Invited.

Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 15.—The board of directors of the Appalachian Exposition this morning drafted a formal invitation to Col. Goethals, chief engineer of the Panama canal construction, inviting him to visit the exposition. R. L. Sites, personal representative of President W. J. Oliver, of the exposition company, leaves today for the isthmus of Panama to formally present the invitation. It is very elaborately executed on parchment. The importance of the Panama canal as an aid in developing the Appalachian mountain region makes this invitation very significant.

Tomorrow will be "colored business men's day" at the exposition and a very large attendance of negroes is expected. Robert E. Clay, of Bristol, Va., a negro leader in Virginia and an able speaker, will be the orator of the day.

The society horse show was inaugurated last night and will continue for three nights. The first night's program was pronounced by many as equaling any show ever presented at Madison Square Garden.

The exposition management announces that the horse racing feature will be continued through the entire exposition period instead of through this week as was originally planned. The attendance at the exposition is gratifying and all who come marvel at its completeness.

Shakers Sell Valuable Land.

Harrodsburg, Ky., Sept. 15.—The Society of Shakers, whose estate is located near Highbridge today transferred to Col. George Bohon, their holdings of 18,000 acres of the best land in Mercer county and their personalty. The estate is valued at $150,000 and in addition to a cash consideration of $5,000. Col. Bohon binds himself to support and care for the individual members of the society during the remainder of their lives. There are only fourteen of the Shakers left and their ages range from seventy years upward.

Should Mow Spring Street.

A citizen living on North Spring street requests The Telegram to state that if the city would mow the weeds and grass on the street near the cemetery it would confer a favor on those living in that vicinity. The Telegram is informed that the weeds and grass are so rank that it is like wading a creek in wet weather and on dewy mornings. With this exception the street is in fairly good condition.

Secretary of War Arrives in China.

Hankow, China, Sept. 15.—Jacob M. Dickinson, the American Secretary of War, arrived here today. The party came up the Yang-Tse-Kiang river from Shanghai. They will proceed by train to Peking where the Secretary will be received by the Prince Regent.

Curbing For Tate Street.

The curbing is being put down on Tate street and in a few days the property owners can get busy laying sidewalks. For the past three years the property owners have been asking for curbing in order that they might get their sidewalks down.

BIG PROPERTY SALE IN RALEIGH

Entire City Block Goes Under Hammer.

Home Place of Mrs. E. E. Moffitt Sold For Sum of $18,675—Property Located on Fayetteville Street—Y. M. C. A. Secretary Stirring Up Interest in Raleigh Association—Reduced Freight Rates on Norfolk & Western.

Raleigh, Sept. 15.—Raleigh had an important land sale this morning when the fine property of Mrs. E. E. Moffitt on Fayetteville street was sold at auction on account of Mrs. Moffitt's change of residence from Raleigh to Richmond where her son, H. W. Jackson, has gone as president of one of the largest banking institutions there. The property sold was an entire square or city block with the residence in the central portion. The property brought $18,675. The dwelling brought $6,500 and was purchased by J. A. Bivins. The vacant lots into which the square was divided were purchased by James H. Pou, C. B. Edwards, Davis Elias and others.

Albert L. Cox, special master in the famous case of Seminole Securities Co. vs. Southern Life Insurance Co., has just begun the taking of evidence in the phase of the litigation that he is to investigate and report to Judge Connor of the Federal court. There was a hearing here yesterday. And there will have to be hearings at various points in Eastern Carolina and in South Carolina for the convenience of witnesses before the evidence is all in.

Rev. J. G. Busike is in the city on his way to Baton Rouge, La., where he takes charge of St. James Parish as rector. He retired from the rectorship of the Episcopal church at Goldsboro to assume this new charge.

The trustees of the Odd Fellows Orphanage at Goldsboro have purchased thirty five acres of additional farm land for the purpose of maintaining a dairy. The trustees have also awarded the contract for the installation of the new Jacobi Memorial building so that it will be fully equipped in time for the first approach of cold weather.

J. C. Jackson, field secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association work in Tennessee spent the past ten days here talking with prominent men interested in the establishment of a Y. M. C. A. here with its own home and urging that active work to this end be set on foot at once. Raleigh has a committee for launching such an undertaking, but the actual work of raising the necessary funds—something like $100,000—has not been gotten underway. Mr. Jackson also visited the A. & M. College Association while he was in the city and found it already in aggressive working order for the session.

The Interstate Commerce Commission notifies the North Carolina Commission that it has granted an extension of the time for the Norfolk & Western Railroad Co. to put in operation the reduced freight rates Lynchburg to Winston-Salem and Durham from October 1 to November 1. This reduction is that ordered as the outcome of the suit the North Carolina Commission brought as an entering wedge in its fight against discriminations practiced against North Carolina cities as compared with Virginia cities in freight rates from the west.

Fire Last Night.

The Chemical wagon was called to the residence of Mrs. E. C. Watlington, corner Edgeworth and Gaston streets last night on account of some trouble with thte gas fixtures. The supply was cut off and the trouble remedied. No damage was done, the inmates not knowing what to do called on the firemen for fear thte flames from the gas jet might set the building on fire.

Elks Initiate Four.

Greensboro Lodge, No. 602, B. P. O. Elks Wednesday night initiated Messrs. M. S. Fink, J. M. Millikan, Ec Sloan and J. P. Kelly. One application for membership was received. There was a large attendance and the meeting was an enthusiastic one.

Interesting Record of Setbacks it Has Suffered Since the Beginning of Present Year.

New York World.

Eugene N. Foss, Democrat, was elected to Congress from Massachusetts on March 22, 1910, by a plurality of 5,640.

James S. Havens, Democrat, was elected to Congress from New York over Boss Aldridge in April, 1910, by a plurality of 5,831.

C. C. Atkinson. Democrat, was elected to Congress from Missouri on February 1, 1910, by a plurality of 3,778, the Democratic majority in 1908 being only 1,995.

United States Senator Julius Burows, "standpat" Republican, was defeated in the Michigan primaries by Representative Charles E. Townsend, progressive Republican.

"Standpat" Republican Senators who have announced their retirement are:

Eugene Hale, of Maine.
Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island.
Frank Flint, of California.
Samuel H. Piles, of Washington.

Regular machine Republican Representatives in Congress who have been defeated for renomination are:

Duncan McKinley and James McLachlan, of California.
John A. T. Hull, of Iowa.
Charles S. Scott, James M. Miller, William A. Calderhead and William A. Reeder, of Kansas.
Ralph D. Cole, of Ohio.
Wiliam H. Stafford, of Wisconsin.
Joseph Sibley, machine Republican, forced to retire from ticket in Pennsylvania after nomination for Congress.

Cannon Democrats defeated for renomination are:

Leonidas Livingston and William M. Howard, of Georgia.

Other results:

The Republicans carried Vermont, by the smallest majority since 1872.

La Follette, Progressive, was renominated for Senator from Wisconsin by a majority of 40,000 over his "standpat" opponent.

Bass, Progressive Republican candidate for Governor, carried the New Hampshire primaries by a vote nearly double that of the regular machine candidate.

Thomas Leary was elected to the Vermont Legislature, the first Democrat from Crittenden county in 52 years.

HAIR SOFT AS SILK.

New Scientific Treatment Kills Dandruff Germs and Makes Hair Soft.

It is an accepted fact, a proven fact, that dandruff is a germ disease; and it is also a demonstrated fact that Newbro's Herpicide kills the dandruff germ. Without dandruff falling hair would stop, and thin hair will thicken. Herpicide not only kills the dandruff germ, but it also makes hair as soft as silk. It is the most delightful hair dressing made. It cleanses the scalp from dandruff and keeps it clean and healthy. Itching and irritation are instantly relieved, and permanently cured. There's nothing "just as good." Take no substitute. DID NOT BRING GOOD LUCK.

Pittsburg Dispatch.

Joseph Klosut, of Dookers Hollow, believed that a black cat brought luck. That was several days ago. Yesterday a dog chased Klosut's cat, a gun nearly kicked the life out of Klosut when he tried to shoot the dog, doctors worked half a day picking bird shot out of a half dozen of Klosut's one time-friend. Klosut paid a $25 fine for reckless shooting—and the end is not yet.

Believing he was getting a good fetish Klosut picked up an old stray cat and gave it a home. He patiently waited for luck to follow, and when a dog chased his cat yesterday Klosut vowed he would kill the cur.

Hurrying out his home with an old shotgun, he started in pursuit of the dog, which was half a square behind the cat. He could not follow the dog, cock his gun and watch where he was going at the same time, so, throwing his gun to his shoulders, he trusted to luck and fired.

Marie Dubash and Annie Colosisky were promenading with several other friends of Klosut. They fled, filled with fear and birdshot. Windows were shattered and Klosut was knocked to the ground.

When he rose the dog was nearby wagging his tail, and the good-luck cat had disappeared. A policeman arrested Klosut and he was fined by Burgess J. S. McClure, of North Braddock. His former friends threaten to sue him. The cat has not come back.

A Legend

By SUSAN YOUNG PORTER

Copyright, 1910, by American Press Association.

In the year A. D. 875 at a Maying party in Suffold county, England, a young Saxon yeoman saw a girl dancing with others about a Maypole. So graceful was she, her eyes were so blue, her hair, glistening in the sunlight and tossed about with every step, was so fair, so happy was her smile, so melodious her laughter, that the young man was enraptured.

John Boylan was a strapping youth who could send an arrow into the core of an apple at 200 yards and had already borne a pike in the cause of his king, Edmond, against the Danes, having been with his sovereign on the fatal day when he was defeated and his reign came to an end. John's father had since died and left him possession of the farm, consisting of 500 acres in land, with many cows, sheep, pigs and other cattle. His mother had died before his father, and he had no brothers or sisters.

And so it was that when John saw the graceful Ethelreda dancing about the Maypole he bethought himself how happy he would be if he might take her home to live with him. Straightway he went to her father and said to him:

"I wish your daughter to wife. I have my own farm and cattle, but I have no one to milk the cows or to keep me company when I have done my work or to have a care of my estate when I have gone into the forest to hunt or am called upon by my lord to do battle. I therefore pray you to give me your daughter."

So the father, knowing of John's wealth, called his daughter and, pointing to the young man, who was at the time leaning on his bow, said to her:

"This man has his own farm and his cows and his sheep and his pigs, but he has no wife to milk the cows or have a care of the sheep or feed his pigs when he is in the forest hunting or doing service in war for his suzerain. Therefore he has asked me for you to be his wife, and you will get ready for the wedding."

Ethelreda knew this to be a command, and any command from her father she would not think of disobeying. She cast only one shy glance at John when the word wife was spoken, and, seeing the tall, well formed young man looking kindly upon her, she gave him her heart at once and went away to begin her preparations for the wedding.

It was but a few weeks after this that a bridal party, of which John and Ethelreda were the principal figures, left the church where they had been married and started for John's home. To reach it they were obliged to pass over a bridge across a small stream called Goldbrook. This they did, making merry the while, though when they were halfway over John stopped, and a shudder passed over his stalwart frame. But whatever the cause he conquered it and passed on with the same light step as before.

The wedding was celebrated with feasting and dancing, the singing of minstrels and games, all of which were customary at weddings in that day, after which the bride and groom went back to John's farm.

Never did it appear that a newly married couple would be happier. But they had not been together a week before a band of robbers ran off with the best of John's cows. Then in the summer, during a thunderstorm, the lightning struck the house and well nigh demolished it. In the autumn a snowstorm such as had never been known before in England covered John's sheep, and very few came out alive. The next spring a baby was born to the couple, but it died a few hours after its birth, and its mother went with it.

Then John went out to Goldbrook stream and cut an inscription on the keystone to this effect:

"In the year of our Lord 870 King Edmond, having been defeated by the Danes, hid in the branches of the oak tree standing close by this bridge. There he remained during the day and at nightfall came down from the tree and hid himself under this bridge over Goldbrook stream. That night a wedding party passed over the bridge The moon shone down from the heavens. One of the throng espied its rays shining on the king's golden spur, and going down under the bridge, they saw him crouching there. He was delivered to his enemies, who, leading him to the tree in which he had hidden during the day, filled him full of arrows. His body was borne to Bury St. Edmunds and interred there."

The disconsolate husband, having finished this inscription, wrote beneath it in large letters:

"Cursed Be the Wedding Party That Passes This Bridge."

Whether John placed the record of the event on the bridge is not certain. It is there today after ten centuries have passed over it. No part of the curse is to be seen. It has been handed down by tradition.

Certain it is that no wedding party will cross Goldbrook bridge, preferring to go by a circuitous route.

Standing in the center of an open field, on the spot where grew the tree in which King Edmund too refuge, is an obelisk erected to his memory.

England is full of these old traditions, many of them like this handed down from a period antedating the conquest by William I., which gave them their present sovereign.

The State of Washington ought to feel a trifle lonesome. It has returned a standpatter to Congress.

The independent Democrats of Tennessee had entered into a "gentleman's agreement" and had, in honor, to deliver the goods.

A railroad man being "investigated" recently, designated clothing as a "luxury." Well, if they keep hoisting the tariff there will be more truth than poetry in the statement.

"Butler's Record" as told in yesterday's News and Observer should be in the hands of every voter in the State. It would have the effect of making "assurance doubly sure."

Cornell University receives $689,000 in the will of the late Prof. Goldwin Smith. Who would have thought a professor could ever leave a bequest like that? Evidently there are professors and professors.

Former Senator Wellington, of Maryland, a Republican, is candid enough to confess that a sweeping Democratic victory in the coming Congressional election is in prospect. "There is danger in the air," he says.

If a canvass of the Republicans of the State could be made and their real desires could be ascertained, a large majority would certainly be found construing the local self-government plank as a declaration for "booze."

Curtiss M. Guild, special ambassador to Mexico for the Mexican Centennial, told the Mexicans that the United States was for "peace with honor." No doubt he used "honor" as synonymous with "the big stick."

Even the Republicans who were elected to Congress from Maine got in by the skin of their teeth and it is not certain that one of them, Asher C. Hinds, didn't miss the plum altogether as a recount has been demanded by his opponent. It was the worst reverse the Republican party has had in many years and the magnificent Democratic victory in Maine points the way to similar events in other states. This is a Democratic year.

The socalled independent Democrats of Tennessee did what it seems to us they were in honor bound to do—decided to stick to their temporary coalition with the Republicans. It means that a Republican will be the next Governor of Tennessee. By the time the next election is held, it is to be hoped that the Democrats will be in such shape that they won't be obliged to enter into an agreement with the Republicans in order to prevent an unfit Democrat from being made Governor.

A New York banker has been arrested for defalcation. In a statement that he has made he virtually says that he probably wouldn't have gone wrong had it not been so easy to borrow money. It is a sign of an unwholesome state of affairs when it is very easy to borrow money and while a great many safeguards have already been thrown around the lending of money there is room for still further improvement in this connection. One thing is certain, if money is easy to get its value is apt not to be appreciated.

A correspondent of the Baltimore Sun gives that paper the following nut to crack:

I have been consecrating my life to the service of others, especially those to whom I owe only the ordinary duties of humanity. My theory has been that the greatest merit is in doing what I least desire to do. But recently the idea begins to haunt me that my welfare and the gratification of my wishes are as important as the welfare and the gratification of another. Am I right?

The Sun's reply is:

You have no right to extinguish yourself, and your chief duty after yourself is to home folks, upon whom you would call in case of your illness or misfortune. The finest discipline of character is in learning to live harmoniously with your relatives. After you have achieved this enjoy yourself rationally in any way you please. Correct conduct at home is a fine art. One's own character brought to perfection is an achievement worth working for all the days in the year.

There are men so unselfish (as it seems on the surface) that they actually neglect their own family in their solicitude for the welfare of others. But a man's first duty is to those that are dependent on him. To neglect them for the sake of others who have no such claim on him is really a form of selfishness for it tends to bring about a condition wherein they themselves will be dependent on the charity of others, a burden thus being shifted from the shoulders where it rightfully belongs. Charity certainly begins at home. Nevertheless it seems to us that the Sun's argument is faulty in that it seems to advocate that charity ought to remain at home, as of course it shouldn't except partially.

MEDAL CONTEST AT GUILFORD

Miss Mabel Huffines the Winner In Interesting Event Under the Auspices of the Loyal Temperance Legion.

Last night in Memorial Hall at Guilford College under the auspices of the Loyal Temperance Union a gold medal contest was held and was well attended.

The exercises, which commenced at 7 o'clock, were presided over by Mrs. George W. White, the contestants being Eleanor Fox, Alpheus White, Mabel Huffines and Henry Jackson. Miss Mabel Huffines was declared the winner of the medal by the judges, Rufus Fitzgerald, Fletcher Fuller and Miss Myra Binford.

Following the medal contest there was an interesting and helpful temperance address by Miss Elizabeth Moore, president of the North Carolina Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

AEROPLANE IN COMMERCE

It Is In Many Ways Already a Practical Success.

Christian Science Monitor.

A great deal more than curiosity is concerned in the commercial future of the areoplane. To use a comprehensive term, it has already cost hundreds of millions of dollars to move the automobile. In this department of activity alone tremendous plants, huge capital and tens of thousands of workers are employed. An industry second to few, and promising to be greater than many among those that are now foremost, has grown out of the application of the gas engine and the pneumatic tire to the road wagon. And all this within less than a score of years.

Has the aeroplane the same chance? A better one, providing it ca nbe developed to the same point of efficiency, for it has a wider field. A perfected aeroplane would come into competition, not only with all forms of land transportation, but with all forms of water transportation. The possibilities of the automobile are great, and the manner in which it is meeting them is amazing, but it, nevertheless, has limitations which the perfected aeroplane would not know. The good road question, for one thing, would not trouble it. It would have need to recognize no land boundaries.

But all this, of course, is in the future, and everything is dependent upon the ability of the aeroplane to advance beyond the point of experiment. It is safe to say that 90 per cent of the millions now interested in its flights are viewing the proceedings with reference to its personal application. What the average man, woman and child wants to know more than anything else is whether the flying machine is going to be so perfected that the average man, woman and child can fly in it. To see experaeronauts fly is one thing; to fly oneself is another thing. And, more than this, behind the whole proposition lies the question whether in flying onself one may be accompanied by one's family, and, occasionally, by one's friends.

The areoplane is already a demonstrated success in some particulars. That may as well be admitted. But so has been th eballoon for many years, so has been the tight-rope, so has been the loop-the-loop contrivance, and yet the great mass of the people have not taken passionately to them. Just as soon as the aeroplane is made stable enough, reliable enough and cheap enough to meet the needs and the demands of a people traditionally and constitutionally for of change, travel and more or less excitement, just so soon will it be a commercial success.

MR. WILSON AND MISS PECK WED

The home of Mrs. Clara Thornton Peck, 524 Douglas street, was the scene of a beautiful wedding last evening at 9 o'clock when her daughter, Miss Saza Hendrick Peck, became the bride of Mr. Robert North Wilson, of Durham. The impressive ring ceremony of the Episcopal church was used, the vows being spoken before Rev. Sanders R. Guignard, former rector of St. Andrew's Episcopal church.

In the parlor, where the ceremony was performed, the color scheme of green and white was effected with Bride roses, clematis and jessamines. In one corner an arch of jessamines had been arranged and beneath this the bride and groom spoke the vows.

Those in the receiving line were Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thornton, Mrs. Thornton wearing cream tussah silk over taffeta with cluny lace; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dilk Thornton, Mrs. Thornton wearing lavender satin, cream lace and silver trimmings; Mr. and Mrs. Jas. G. Lewis, Mrs. Lewis wearing white crepe de chene over taffeta with pearl trimrings. Masters John Murray Thornton and Harry Howard Thornton showed the gentlemen to their dressing room, while Miss Leah Thornton showed the ladies to their dressing room.

The hall, where the bridal party was formed, was decorated in roses, dahlias, ferns and palms, the color scheme being pink and green. From the hall the bridal party, led by the officiating minister, Rev. Mr. Guignard, proceeded through the library to the folding doors leading to the parlor.

The sound of the notes from Mendelsshon's wedding march, rendered by Miss Lily Jackson, signalled the approach of the wedding party. Following the minister came the groom, accompanied by his best man and brother, Mr. Louis R. Wilson, of Chapel Hill. Next came the maid of honor, Miss Cora B. Peck, sister of the bride, wearing a lovely creation of pink tussah over taffeta and carrying an armful of pink roses. She was followed by Little Miss Elizabeth Thornton, daintily attired in a hand made lace dress with pink ribbons, bearing the wedding ring on a large pink rose.

Then came the bride on the arm of her uncle, Mr. Harry Thornton, who gave her away. She wore an imported gown of real princess lace over messaline, made empire entraine, with veil. Instead of the conventional flowers she carried a white prayer book. The bride and groom met beneath an arch of jessamines, the remainder of the bridal party forming a semi-circle while the ceremony was in progress.

After the ceremony an informal reception was held and refreshments, consisting of cream, cake and mints were served in the dining room by Miss Marguerite Cartland, assisted by Misses Annie Coffin and Jessie Smith. The color scheme here was gold and white.

Misses Merrie Richardson and Annie Garrett presided in the gift room. In the library the register for the guests was presided over by Miss Mary Theresa Cooke.

The bride is a charming young lady and is deservedly popular. For the past five years she has been a teacher in the Asheboro Street graded schools and has hundreds of friends in the city and county who will learn with interest of her marriage. The groom is associate professor of chemistry in Trinity College, Durham. Formerly he held the chair of chemistry in Guilford College. He has hundreds of friends throughout the city and county. The large and handsome collection of wedding presents attest the popularity of the couple.

Prof. and Mrs. Wilson will leave this morning for their future home in Durham.

MADAME NOLAN HERE NEXT WEEK.

Madame Nolan, the noted fashion exponent, will be with us next week to give our patrons the benefit of her advice on this ever interesting topic. Madame Nolan will show the exquisite La Vida corsets, demonstrating their value as beauty builders. There are models to improve every type of figure, and Madame Nolan will gladly advise our patrons in the choice of a suitable style.

The Lavida corsets shown are among the most exquisite examples of corsetry ever brought to this city, and we promise our friends a treat.

WOMAN AND THE FARM.

Last Census Showed 307,706 Feminine Tillers of the Soil.

Sarah Comstock in Collier's Weekly.

The last census showed 307.706 women farmers in the United States, and there is prospect of a large increase when the new statistics come in.

Called the conservative sex, she is displaying anything but conservatism in the way in which she seizes upon modern methods in her farming. Take Miss Jessie Nicholson, for instance. Her father ran his New Jersey farm on "good old lines" to the end of his days; the daughter assumed chorge of it 13 years ago, installed new devices from time to time and has accomplished more than he ever did.

"I used to say: 'Father, thee knows there is no profit in spcialization'" she told me. "And he would say, 'Yes, I do know it, but it's too lat for me to change.'"

We were at large in her 225 acres of green fluted meadows, brushed by the white of June daisies, and a dozen or so pongee-clad Guernseys were nosing about, as jealous for a word and a pat as so many affectionate puppies. Here and there at a distance the sharp black and white of a Holstein blotched the green.

"It pays better to do one thing, think," she went on. "It is the tendency of today. I used to think there was waste in raising so many different thinks and then buying feed. So now—"she pointed to the stretches of Canada field peas—"we raise our own hay, and we have a silo, and we sell our milk and our chickens, and that's all. We average about 100 cows and we have put away something like $3.000 a year."

I saw the great, cool, roomy barn with its swinging stanchions and piles of green feed and clean dringink cups, all filled from the sparkling artesian supply for which Miss Nicholson drilled over 200 feet. It looked as if it would be very pleasant to be a cow under the circumstances, but later, the lot of the hen allured, when we passed through the sun-flooded chicken house where, in tiers of boxes as compactly arranged as an up-to-date flat, the portly buff cochins dwelt in content. But above all shone the delight of the human lot at 1 o'clock; for neither cow nor hen may know the joy of Jersey berries in Guernsey cream, of asparagus budded that morning, of tomatoes and lettuce fresh from the garden.

"We don't make a business of truck," said Miss Nicholson, "but we like to raise what we use, and it's good for a woman to work among her fruit and vegetables. I never know what it is not to fall asleep the minute I touch the pillow."

It's hard for a fellow to laugh and grow fat when the laugh is on him.

FLESH-FORMING FOOD.

When you buy a package of Samose, the great flesh-forming food, weigh yourself and see how much you gain in the first week's use. Howard Gardner will tell of many of his customers who a month or so ago were thin, pale and haggard, but who are now, through the use of Samose, plump' strong and happy, with perfect health and attractive flesh. He has seen so many instances of the wonderful power of Samose to restore the weak and sick to strength and health, and to make good natural flesh that he gives his personal guarantee with every package of Samose he sells to refund the money if it does not prove satisfactory.

Samose is a pure preparation, and can be used with absolute confidence by the most delicate. It gives remarkable results with children who are weak and run down and without appetite.

A Good Position

Can be had by ambitious young men and ladies in the field of "Wireless" or Railway telegraphy. Since the 8-hour law became effective, and since the Wireless companies are establishing stations throughout the country there is a great shortage of telegraphers. Positions pay beginners from $70 to $90 per month, with good chance of advancement. The National Telegraph institute operates six official institutes in America, under supervision of R .R. and Wireless Officials and places all graduates into positions. It will pay you to write them for full details at Cincinnati, O., Philadelphia, Pa., Memphis, Tenn., Davenport, Ia., Columbia, S. C., or Portland, Ore., according to where you wish to enter.

A MARRYING POLICEMAN.

Ernest Nelson, of Lynn, Mass., Performs a Double Duty.

New York Press.

Ernest F. T. Nelson, of Lynn, Mass., has a double duty. He is both a policeman and a justice of the peace, and accordingly can turn from his work as a preserver of the peace to performing marriage services. Nelson has proved his ability in this respect. With one hand he seizes criminals and with the other, so to speak, he may tie the nuptial knot. Nelson patrols the section of Lynn that includes many of the amusement resorts. His double powers have become noised abroad, and it is no uncommon thing for a bridegroom to wander along Nelson's beat in the evening, looking for him to perform a marriage ceremony. When Nelson gets a request of this sort he calls up police headquarters and gets permission to leave his beat for half an hour. The request invariably is granted, and Nelson, hurrying to his home, a few blocks distant, removes his helmet and dons the garb of a justice of the peace. Thus he faces the bride and bridegroom, and though his policeman's club may be dangling at his side he reads the marriage service eloquently and impressively. Nelson, as "the marrying policeman," is always on duty, and promises in a few years to rival the famous "marrying parson."

"But why don't you pay a little visit to your native town?" we asked the recently great man. "It's only a few miles, and you have plenty of time."

"Yes," he said, "but you see the only newspaper there is published but once a week, and it came out yesterday. So what's the use?"—Cleveland Leader.

Mrs. Jacob Wilmert, Lincoln, Ill., found her way back to perfect health. She writes: "I suffered with kidney trouble and backache and my appetite was very poor at times. A few week's ago I got Foley's Kidney Pills and gave them a fair trial. They gave me great relief, so continued till now I am again in perfect health." Holton Drug Co.

WATTERSON ON MAINE.

Louisville Courier-Journal.

The slump in the Republican vote of Vermont, quickly followed by Democratic landslide in Maine, ends further question about the party complexion of the next Congress.

That the battle in Maine was fought on local issues, not the least damaging of which to the Republicans was the corruption incident to the abortive attempt to make men sober by acts of Assembly sublaid in constitutional prohibition, does not imply that national conditions and tendencies cut no figure in the campaign and contributed nothing to the result.

The Republican party at large is in a weaving way. It is answerable for the state of the nation, and the State of Maine is a part of the nation. The one-party power, dealing in every manner of extravagance and expressed in all sorts of the political queer, has worked the inevitable, culminating in widespread popular discontent. Maine though isolated, is not exceptional. It feels the movement of the world outside. The vote of Monday makes it sure that when the issue of representative government versus absolutism and arbitrary power, embodied by the personality and the preachments of Theodore Roosevelt and pressed upon the country by him, is fairly launched, the old Pine Tree State will lead the van of a united New England in favor of the old order.

The Lash of a Fiend

would have been about as welcome to A. Copoer, of Oswego, N. Y., as a merciless lung-racking cough that defied all remedies for years. "It has most trouble some at night,' he writes, "nothing helped me till I used Dr. King's New Discovery which cured me completely. I never cough at night now." Millions know its matchless merit for stubborn colds, obstinate coughs, sore lungs, lagrippe, asthma, hemorrhage, croup, whooping cough, or hayfever. It relieves quickly and never fails to satisfy. A trial convinces. 50c., $1.00. Trial bottle free. It's positively guaranteed by Fariss-Klutz Drug Co.

Treating The Wrong Disease

Many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they present alike to themselves and their easy-going or over-busy doctor, separate diseases, for which he, assuming them to be such, prescribes his pills and potions. In reality they are all only symptoms caused by some weakness or derangement of the organs distinctly feminine. The physician, ignorant of the cause of suffering, keeps up his treatment until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better by reason of the wrong treatment, but probably worse. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dispelling all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said, that "a disease known is half cured."

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots without the use of alcohol and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful, invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "worn-out," "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, "shop-girls," house-keepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequaled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine "Favorite Prescription" is unequaled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability, nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing, nervous symptoms commonly attendant upon functional and organic disease of the distinctly feminine organs. It induces refreshing sleep and relieves mental anxiety and despondency.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets invigorate the stomach, liver and bowels. One to three a dose. Easy to take as candy.

EVERY WOMAN ought to possess Dr. Pierce's great book, the People's Common Sense Medical Adviser, a magnificent thousand-page illustrated volume. It teaches mothers how to care for their children and themselves. It is the best doctor to have in the house in case of emergency. Over half a million copies were sold at $1.50 each, but one free copy in paper-covers will be sent on receip of 21 one-cent stamps to pay the cost of mailing only; or send 31 stamps for a handsome cloth-bound copy. Address the publishers, World's Dispensary Medical Association, 663 Main St., Buffalo, N. Y.

A MODERN SCALPER.

The Little Comedy That Was Played Between the Acts.

A little comedy between acts enlivened things at a Broadway theater one night last week. A middle aged man accompanied by his wife sat directly behind a pretty young girl and her escort. At the end of the first act the middle aged man went out for "fresh air." He came back bringing the smell of the fresh air and gayer spirits with him. His wife gave him a startled glance, and like a flash her hand went up to his vest. There dangling from the top button was a bunch of brown, curly puffs. There was a dynamitical second as the wife held the puffs in her white gloved hand and looked at them. Now she was not a jealous wife—just a common sense little woman, ready to meet an emergency. She looked at the heads about her. The pretty girl's back hair looked as if a piece had fallen out. The wife leaned over to the side away from the girl's escort and whispered. The girl slipped a hand down and back, and the wife stealthily laid the bunch of puffs which her husband had carried away on his vest button in the owner's hand. The latter kept them concealed, gently and artfully reached up, pinned them into place, and escort, watching the rising curtain, was none the wiser. —New York Times.

HIS STUPID MISTAKE.

Much to His Surprise It Was Promptly Rectified.

A well known Londoner was planning an entertainment on an elaborate scale to be given to various friends in the neighborhood of his country seat. Unfortunately his nearest neighbor, a close relative, is highly uncongenial to himself and his intimates, and he racked his brains to devise a scheme by which he might avoid the necessity of inviting the undesirable cousin to be among his guests.

"I have it!" he announced to his wife at breakfast on the morning of the event. "I'll send him some tickets for the play tonight in town. Of course he'll be delighted, as he seldom has an opportunity of going to the theater."

The tickets were accordingly sent, and the host with an easy conscience proceeded to enjoy the company of his friends. But his satisfaction was of short duration. At the height of the festivities, much to his surprise, in walked the objectionable neighbor.

"Such a stupid mistake you made!" he announced as he approached his cousin. "As soon as I heard about your party I knew that you must have sent me the tickets for the wrong night, so I got them changed for tomorrow evening and came right over here as soon as I could."—London Tatler.

What Napoleon Couldn't Do.

An incident connected with Napoleon when he was in exile in Elba is commemorated on the island to this day by an inscription affixed to the wall of a peasant's house. A man named Giaconi was plowing when the famous exile came along one day and expressed an interest in his work. Napoleon even took the plow handles and attempted to guide it himself, but the oxen refused to obey him, overturned the plow and spoiled the furrow. The inscription runs thus:

"Napoleon the Great, passing by this place in MDCCCXIV, took in the neighboring field a plow from the hands of a peasant and himself tried to plow, but the oxen, rebellious to those hands which yet had guided Europe, headlong fled from the furrow." —St. Louis Republic.
